"I am concerned with so much food being dumped every day at my local supermarkets. There are citizens right now facing starvation due to being unemployed as well as homeless people. Why isn't every supermarket being encouraged to donate food to the local food banks in their area? Also, I know that dairy farmers are dumping milk because of an excess of it not being used in schools and businesses. Why don't we use the overage of dairy for milk or cheese production and donate it to food banks, shelters, and churches so all people can be fed. It is a waste of nutritious meals that could be going into the stomach of SF Valley citizens. If I can be of help to direct this effort or volunteer my time in any other capacity, please call me at 818-984-4765. I want to do my part in aiding the Valley during this pandemic. I look forward to any comments you may have for me. Sincerely, Tana Stoiberg ”
